Past Employment

O'Keefe Communications, 2008

O'Keefe is an event and media productions company based in Washington DC. Their client list includes Clark Construction, the American Society of Landscape Architects, the Smithsonian Institute, and the United States Postal Service. In 2008 I worked on a number of projects for them as a graphic designer and Keynote presentation designer, creating visual ID's for speakers, designing event presentations, and preparing digital media resources for post-production. In particular, I directed the visual aesthetic and presentation design of the 2008 Smithsonian Philatelic Achievement Awards Gala.

Laureate Education, Inc., 2007

Laureate produces online education material for 24 accredited institutions around the world, including Walden University. I was employed there as a contractor to fill a number of roles including logo design, marketing and branding design, template creation and implementation for online course presentations, and audio editing for course lectures. I worked under multiple managers in various departments in a deadline-driven atmosphere.

Self-employed Freelancer, 2004-Present

As a freelancer I have worked with musicians, consulting agencies, and published novelists. Working as a graphic designer, print designer, and web designer all in one, I tailor my approach to their project's needs, keeping a strong line of communication with the client at all times.

Education

Educated at the Maryland Institute College of Art (MICA); Painting Major, Creative Writing Minor.

Notable Achievements

- In 2007, finished first full-length manuscript for a science fiction novel, preluding a much larger story. The novel is planned to be published this year.
- Paintings shown at American University in Washington DC alongside 12 other international artists.
